

MEKA MANU

Korimako

(Bellbird)

Anthornis melanura

Sparklers

MEKA MANU

Characteristics

Korimako (also known as kōmako, kōpara) are famous for their beautiful, melodious songs. You may hear them copy the song of tui.

They like to get up early, and you can often hear them in the dawn chorus! Korimako even have accents, like people from different places, they sing their own unique songs.

They are important pollinators of our native plants. They eat native plant seeds and spread them across the ngahere!

MEKA MANU

Do you like to get up early? To enjoy the mornings to do what you love, whether that's singing or playing?

You remind us of a korimako!

MEKA MANU

What can we learn from korimako?

How might we apply
this in our classroom?

