

MEKA MANU

Kea

(Mountain parrot)

Nestor notabilis

Sparklers

Characteristics

The only living alpine parrot in the world! Kea are clever, playful, and very curious.

Their juvenile stage is longer than most birds and their immaturity is tolerated by other adult kea that they're not related to.

A flock of kea is known either as a 'circus of kea' or a 'curiosity of kea'.

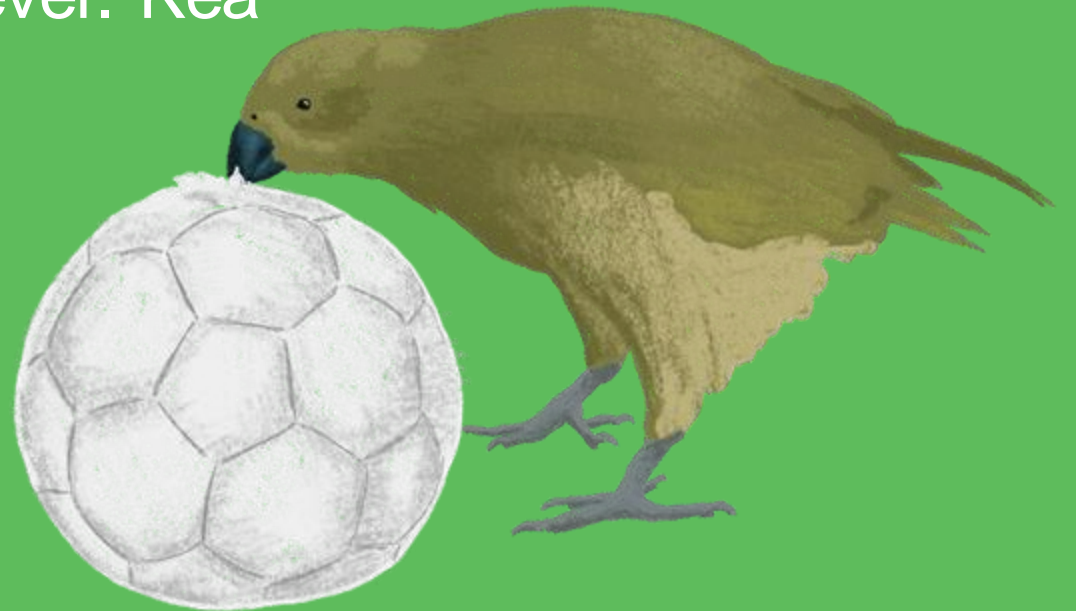

MEKA MANU

Are you enchanted by the world around you? You may be as curious as a kea.

Maybe you just love to play?

Some call it mischievous, some call it clever. Kea are both!

They're one of a kind.
Just like you!

MEKA MANU

Fun fact!

Kea outscored gibbons in an intelligence test by Canterbury University. They are said to be fantastic problem solvers.

MEKA MANU

What can we learn from the kea?

How might we apply this in our classroom?
